GEORGE SHERMAN WRITES LETTER

Former Janesville Boy, Now First Lieut. in Aviation, Has Arrived in France From England.

Mrs. William Sherman, of 715 Glen street, has received an interesting letter from her son, 1st. Lieutenant George Sherman, S. Air Service. Lieutenant Sherman has been in England for the past few months, but lately he was transferred to France where he is seeing active service. The letter from the lieutenant includes a clipping in which tells of a raid over Coblenz. There is little doubt, but that Lieutenant Sherman was in the raid which makes it doubly interesting to the people of Janesville. His letter and clipping follows:

Sunday, July 14, 1918.
I hope you are getting my letters better than I'm getting yours. I have not received one since I left England. Well neither have the rest of the fellows. The mail service is awful here, but we will get some eventually I suppose.

Well everything is fine over here. I am enclosing a clipping of one of our raids over Coblenz. This is just a sample of what we are giving them every day, that the weather is good. The Germans will get enough of this medicine before the war is over.

Fritz has been over several times to visit us and has dropped a few "pills," but he has not done any damage at all. I am getting so that I sleep right through his visits. The anti-aircraft guns do not even disturb me any more.

This is not a half bad life, in fact I like it, but believe me, when the war is over it won't take me long to get used to it just the same. There is a city about fifteen miles from here where there is an American Y. M. C. A. and they serve hot pancakes and maple syrup. I am going to try and go over there the first poor day we have. It's been a long time since I have had pancakes. I wish you could see our mascot. We have a little fox and he certainly is cute. Just as tame as a little puppy and just as full of life.

I was orderly officer one day last week and had to censor all the men's letters, so I know what it is like to have pity on this poor censor and ring off.

Your Son,
GEORGE SHERMAN.

12 WERE KILLED IN BRITISH RAID OVER COBLENZ
London, July 11.—According to a dispatch from Geneva to the "Daily Express," the British raid over Coblenz, Germany, on the night of July 11, was the most important in the war. The northern part of the railroad station was seriously damaged, as well as the famous iron bridge across the Rhine. A bomb landed on the bridge across the Moselle and another on the Royal Palace.

Undoubtedly the greatest damages were caused at the Rhine-Breitstein bridge, on the other bank of the Rhine, which since the beginning of the war, had always been crowded with recruits under training. South of the bridge, near the town of Coblenz, were killed and 23 injured in Coblenz, but they do not mention the fortress, where most of the bombs fell.

Several prisoners were taken in the raid, and it is believed that the population is frightened even when German aviators fly over the city.

ARTHUR WELSH ENLISTS IN THE MARINE AVIATION

Popular Janesville Young Man Joins Colors At Chicago And Leaves Immediately For Southern Camp.

Arthur Welsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Welsh, 332 South Jackson street, has enlisted in the marine aviation according to a telegram received from him last evening by his father. Mr. Welsh stated this morning that his son had left Janesville on Sunday for Chicago to enlist and a telephone call was received from him on Monday stating that he had taken his first examination for the marine aviation and that he had succeeded in passing the second test that he would not be able to return to Janesville. A telegram was received last evening stating that he had successfully passed his examination and that he was leaving immediately for Paris Island, North Carolina.

PAINTERS, LABORERS AND AUTO DRIVERS FOR AIR DIVISION

Eighty-Two Limited Service Men From Wisconsin Wanted For Service In Aircraft Section at Battle Creek, Michigan.

Four painters, twelve chauffeurs and sixty-six laborers all qualified for limited military service and in class one are quotas for Wisconsin in three new draft calls received this morning by the local board. Apportionments for the local boards in the state have not been completed, but will be announced very shortly. Those chosen or inducted for this service will enlist for Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Michigan, August 17th, for work in the Aircraft Division.

FARMERS BOAST RECORD YIELDS

Forty-Seven Bushels Of Barley Per Acre Harvested By John Buchel Of The Town of Janesville.

Farmers in all sections of the county are reporting big yields of barley and wheat. Various men in the town of Janesville are especially proud of their records. John Buchel recently harvested thirty-one acres of barley which averaged forty-seven bushels to the acre. County Treasurer A. M. Church, also of Janesville township has just completed harvesting one and a half acres of wheat, obtaining fifty-nine bushels, or nearly forty bushels per acre.

ARTHUR CHRISTIAN WOUNDED IN ACTION

Janesville Boy Of Old Company M Reported Severely Wounded In Fighting On July 18.

Private Arthur Christian, a former member of Company M, was severely wounded in action on July 18, according to a telegram received yesterday by his mother, Mrs. M. Christian, 2 North Washington street, from the war department. No further information was contained in the telegram. Janesville boys who were with Old Company M are plainly in the thick of the fighting in the allied divisions. Christian was wounded on July 18th, showing that he took part in the first attack of the late allied drive on the Huns, since the drive began on July 15. Further word on the extent of his injury is expected soon.

STIFF SENTENCES HANDED OUT THIS MORNING IN COURT

Two Arraigned On Charge Of Drunkenness Receive Maximum Fine From Judge Maxfield In Municipal Court.

William Johnson, formerly of Rockford, but lately of this city was arraigned in municipal court this morning on a charge of drunkenness. This is the second time in as many weeks that Johnson has been before Judge Maxfield. When questioned as to his standing in the draft he claimed that he did not know when he would be called.

On his plea of guilty he was given twenty-five dollars and costs or thirty days. The judge instructed him that if he should be called for military service before the expiration of his thirty days, that sentence would be suspended.

Jerome Coley of South River street was a sorry looking character who was arraigned before Judge Maxfield on a charge of drunkenness. He was full of rage, however, and let a very distinct "guilty" out when asked as to his guilt for being drunk.

Conley asked for a chance to go home, as his family needed his money and he also wanted to clean up. He certainly needed the latter, but as we have a commitment law in this county, he will be given a chance to clean up for thirty days and his family will receive his wages.

Florence Wetzel was up again this morning, her trial being for attempted assault. Her trial was set for August 14th and she was released until that time.

Arthur Robinson, colored, was also arraigned for vagrancy, but was released until August 14th, when he will be given a trial. Thomas McClure, who was arrested on a charge of vagrancy, also had his trial set for August 14th at ten o'clock.

YESTERDAY'S MARKETS
Chicago, Aug. 7.—Choice cattle sold at $18.50 per cwt., a new record, while common steers were a drop at $6.75, the spread being the widest in market history. Prime light hogs were worth $19.75 while heavy hogs sold around $18.

This affords an object lesson of present live stock market conditions. In the sheep house a similar spread existed. Light hogs had added value, but the public would balk at quality, when prices are considered, but the reverse is the case. Packers buying high-priced stock consider it worth the money and are willing to pay for it.

Pat sheep at $14.75 established a new record for grassers, while quality was wanted trash was neglected, a clearance being made.

Western markets had another quiet of common cattle, many being rebuffed to Ancon, insuring liberal receipts the rest of the week. Common cattle were hard to move, but any choice was strong. A decline in being registered on medium grades. Good hogs were strong, packing grades 10@15c lower. Practically everything in the sheep house was steady.

Grazing Conditions Serious
Western advices concerning grazing conditions were serious. Kansas City was being hit hard, and many were wrestling with acute congestion and killing gangs were unable to keep up with their task. Cows and calves are swelling the procession. Hides were admitting a difference of opinion to that extent.

SINGLE DELIVERY IS ADOPTED FOR CITY

LOCAL MERCHANTS HELD MEETING LAST EVENING AND ADOPTED SINGLE DELIVERY IN ACCORDANCE WITH REQUEST.

DIVIDED INTO ZONES

City Divided Into Two Zones. Two Deliveries Each Day On Each Side of River.

Janesville will have, beginning Monday, August 19th, one delivery a day system, to comply with the government request.

A committee named by the retail merchants making delivery, met at the Chamber of Commerce last night and decided upon the following plan which has the approval of the Rock County Board of Defense.

The city is divided into two delivery zones—one morning, the other, afternoon. There will be an eight and a ten o'clock delivery each morning, and a two o'clock and a four o'clock each afternoon as follows:

8:00 A. M. delivery—All west of river to Chatham street, bounded by Elizabeth street on the north; thence south on Chatham street to Pleasant street, thence east on Pleasant street to Center avenue; south on Center avenue to the river. This delivery will include South Washington street.

10:00 A. M. delivery—Will cover that section on the east side of river bounded on the north by Glen street to Milton avenue; thence on Milton avenue to Walker street; thence on Walker to Garfield street; south on Garfield to Carrington street; west on Carrington to Main street.

2:00 P. M. delivery—Will embrace all that portion of the city west and south of the river not covered by the 8:00 A. M. delivery.

4:00 P. M. delivery—Will cover all that portion east of the river not embraced in the 10:00 A. M. delivery.

People living in the morning zone must place their orders before 7:00 and 2:00 to insure delivery. People living in the afternoon zone must place their orders before 1:00 and 3:00.

One delivery a day applies to all stores that maintain any form of delivery service including dry goods, clothing or department stores, and grocery, meat, and provision stores. Sanctioned by the Rock County Board of Defense this must be construed as a war measure and is an order.

This plan of delivery has been in operation in most cities for some time and has been found most satisfactory and does not work a hardship on anyone. More important, however, is the fact that it releases a number of men for more essential work and this is the idea of the government in asking for such plan to be put in operation throughout the country.

Hog receipts were equal to expectation, being heavy considering temperatures and the season. The crop was picked over at $19.50@19.75, but $18@18.25 took considerable packing stuff. A few satisfactory hogs showed up. Keeping buyers guessing as to their value. Eleven markets had $2,000 last week and $5,000 a year ago.

Chicago is a dumping ground for common hogs as packers here can use anything. During the next sixty days a lot of this stuff will be unloaded. What effect a short corn crop will have on the winter hog movement is open to conjecture. It would probably delay the run thirty days as young hogs would be carried along on grass to economize grain.

Hogs averaged at $13.90 per cwt. against $18.05 a year ago and $16.10 a year ago. On the corresponding day of 1916 average cost was $8.82 and three years ago, $6.70. The $14.00 grade of cattle selling at $18.80 yesterday cost $14.00 a year ago. Sheep $10.50 a year higher than this time last year.

Light Cattle A Drop.
Cattle could not be cleared after receipts were only 13,000. Western markets were full and light stuff was a drag. Anything over $13 could be sold, the best price of the season for otherwise the market was 10@25c lower than Monday, or 75c to $1.50 per cwt. under the high spot last week. The butcher market was demoralized, and the best cutting material selling at $6@6.75. The $14@16 grades of steers showed most of the decline as they have been seriously out of line.

Sixteen loads of distillery cattle were sold at $17.75@18.35 and another three-load string at $18.40. The $18.80 drove of steers comprised forty-one head averaging 1534 pounds. Freshy feeders were wanted, but there was no reliable country demand for light stock cattle, with which all Western markets are deluged.

Choice to prime steers, $18.25@18.50. Choice to choice yearlings, 18.00@18.50. Good to choice heavy steers, 17.25@18.25. Fair to good steers, 16.50@17.25. Heavy western grassers, 12.00@14.50. Light grassers, 9.00@12.00. Good to choice cows, 9.50@14.00. Fair to good cows, 7.75@9.50. Canners and cutters, 7.00@13.00. Bulls, 5.00. Freshy feeders, 8.00@12.50. Good to choice calves, 16.00@17.25.

Good Hogs Steady
A run of 22,000 hogs carried a heavy packer end. Good hogs were generally steady, with a 5c lower close, most of the packers' profit being at $10c lower. Several local houses made a scramble for good hogs, considering them worth the money, and the big outfits had to wait themselves. The pack sold at $15.50@19.75, with good heavies and choice mixed at $19@19.50, and the general run of up and down mixed at $18.50@18.90.

Under $19.50 it was a trade in heavy packers, $18-18.25 taking overweights. It was an uneven market, values of middle grades being a gambling basis. A few good light hogs in a low bid added value, especially if they happen to be good. Choice light and medium, 13.50@19.75. Good to choice heavy, 18.25@19.25. Good to choice mixed, 18.25@18.75. Straight heavy packers, 17.75@18.25. Bulk of packing grades, 18.00@18.50. Bulk of better grades, 18.00@18.50. Good to choice pigs, 18.00@18.50.

Sheep Trading Record
Live mutton trade was steady. A new record was made by Montana and Idaho sheep at $14.75. Western ewes making a new high spot at $13.50. Native lambs reached $17.50, the Van Ness brand of Idaho sheep at $18.10. Both feeding and breeding stock was wanted. A run of 10,000 was not excessive, but Kansas City and Omaha were better supplied than the market. Dressed hogs made a pickup up, and unless recent prices will hold, packers are disappointed in the quality of native lambs. Much relief was given to competition.

Good to choice native lambs, $16.75@17.50.

Common to medium 14.00@16.50
Western lambs 17.50@18.10
Good native ewes 12.75@13.00
Common to medium 9.50@12.25
Ewes 11.00@16.00
Yearlings 16.75@17.25

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Considerable unfavorable comment is heard from many sources of the advisability of holding circuses, fairs, ball games, even band concerts during the period of the war. Such comment is not only unjust, but also ill-timed. When the thinking men of this nation decide that the people who remain at home must be entertained during the war period, when the federal government issues permits for circuses to travel, opens the moving picture houses, urges fairs and agricultural exhibits he held and the people amused and instructed these carrying circles should be still.

This week Janesville has a circus as a mode of entertainment and next week the Janesville Fair. Both are instructive and entertaining and both are recommended by the federal government as essentials toward the entertainment of the people. Band concerts, public singing and gatherings are also urged as essentials and will continue to be urged as long as the war itself lasts.

Suggestion is made that circuses consume large amounts of wheat and meat that might otherwise be converted into food for our troops abroad. This is not correct. The meat eating animals of the circuses are now fed on horse flesh, not soldiers or even a white man's food, by keeping up a circus organization food conservation can be more easily controlled and at the same time the government receives the special tax for entertainment which is added to the federal income. If the government did not approve of the circuses they could stop them in a minute, but they believe in them and urge that they continue to amuse and instruct the people.

The same is true of fairs such as the Janesville Fair will be next week. It will be both instructive and entertaining. It will show the resources of the country, of Wisconsin, of the nation perhaps, in producing food supplies and will urge food conservation, better farm conditions, improved stock and better cooperation between farmer and suburban citizens.

Friday evening of this week the Power City band will give a patriotic concert with community singing and during the evening Governor Philipp will give a patriotic address. These concerts, like the circuses and the fairs are essential in these war days and should be enjoyed by all. It is part of the great plan of war of the federal government to keep the people entertained and amused.

THE OFFENSIVE AT LAST.

It has been the opinion of the military experts that the allied armies, outnumbered as the result of Russian withdrawal, should attempt no general offensive before next spring. The dreary period of waiting for positive action has seemed interminable. It has been a severe strain on the morale of the nations.

To see the enemy advancing time after time steadily gaining more territory, seizing great areas and valuable points of defense, with nothing apparently doing to drive him out, has taken all our faith and courage.

The smashing attack delivered by the French and Americans the past week with splendid results, leads up all to hope the new phase of the war may have begun. There are times when an offensive seems safer than defensive. In a single operation the defensive must seem to save men and avoid risks, yet valuable points and vital may be lost as to risk a crushing defeat. This has not seemed quite the case in this campaign, as the German attacks have grown steadily weaker. But the longer time the Germans have to create strong defenses in new territory, the longer it will take to drive them out.

The Supreme War Council must be greatly reassured by the fighting ability of the American troops have shown. It has far exceeded what was expected in Europe. With a great reinforcement already in the trenches, and millions more coming, why wait until next spring before striking some real blows?

A campaign of inaction from now until next April will be a severe demand on the endurance of the allied peoples. We can stand it if necessary. But a waiting game is not always the safest. It gives the Germans too much chance to organize the resources they now control in Russia.

Some of the people who denounce the government so bitterly for delays in war preparation, were the same ones who about three years ago thought Congress was terribly extravagant when it bought a dozen military airplanes.

On being asked the proper way to cut wheat bread, Mr. Hoover replied, "Until August 15, cut it out."

Before they got the blessings of peace, it will be necessary for the German people to make it clear that they will not again jump at the throats of other nations on 24 hours notice after 40 years of military preparation.

The more time people spend studying the reports of stock exchange speculation, the less money they usually have to invest.

The German Kaiser and his six sons are being greatly praised by the Germans for their heroism, as they have been up to within 50 miles of the battle front.

The Germans rejoice in their 400,000 young men soldiers that come of fighting age every year, but they don't say much about the 400,000,000 soldiers that get a year older and more tired.

Will some one tell us why it is that to sell a woman a hat, you must assure her it will not be duplicated, while to sell one to a man, you must promise him that all the men will be wearing the same thing?

Some of the politicians who formerly hoped to get elected by the German vote, are now trying to prove that they are the only ones that know how to win the war.

If the newspapers were run on the ideas of all the people that try to keep news items out of them, they would be made up wholly of articles that no one wanted to read.

The Germans claim that they would bring the Americans to their knees, seems to be fulfilled by the number kneeling down to weed their gardens or aim a rifle.

Even if an indolent gardener has not raised much, he may have fed the bugs that otherwise would have feasted on more carefully tended crops.

The people who take advantage of bargain sales at this time of year are not apt to be heard complaining of high prices the beginning of next season.

Merchants who want a full stock all ready for next summer without having to buy anything new, of course do not need to advertise.

It is amazing how disappointing the berry crop seems when the children are given the work of picking over the berries.

It is denied that the Germans are short of money, as their printing presses were running day and night shifts at last reports.

It is denied that Kaiser Bill will be ostracized by the whole world, as no one will ever blackball him for the Ananias club.

The farmer who wants $3.00 a bushel for wheat is often the same one who kicks on three cent passenger fares.

When the politicians views don't prove popular with the people, they can always say the reporter lied.

The food speculators do well to speculate on how long they can keep out of jail.

THE GERMAN KAISER AND HIS SIX SONS

WHO'S WHO in the Daily News

WILLIAM J. MULLIGAN.

"Mr. Mulligan, we are going to place a year's disposal during the next twelve months $50,000,000, and if the work we have in mind requires it, you will be expected to spend it. A million dollars per week may not be enough, but you may count on that much according to present plans."

This is the substance of a statement made by the Knights of Columbus to their chairman of the finance committee, William J. Mulligan, by the constantly growing need by millions of Americans in this country and overseas, for spiritual, physical and mental comforts and attentions. Mr. Mulligan will have use for every one of the $50,000,000, and perhaps an additional $50,000,000.

When it was first announced to Mulligan that $50,000,000 would be placed at his disposal during the year and that he would be expected to spend it at the rate of one million per week, there was a revision, or rather a postscript to the statement which, in substance, was to the effect that Mulligan had to raise the $50,000,000 himself, or, in other words, that the Knights of Columbus next campaign for this needed amount would be under his direct charge. It goes without saying that if a man can raise $50,000,000 he ought to know how to spend it.

Mulligan is a lawyer and before he devoted his energies exclusively to his profession in Hartford, Conn. He is a graduate of Yale law school. Among many strong features that enter into Mulligan's make-up, the predominating one is perhaps the power of organization. His ability in this direction has been proved by the accomplishments credited to him as a result of his tour abroad. In France it only required sixty days for the chairman of the entire K. of C. to get the order in smooth working order. Besides contracting for a great number of K. of C. huts, he ordered that in addition to the barracks, a great quantity of tents which K. of C. secures and their attache will use when they follow the writer of this article, the Knights of Columbus will be found doing war relief work wherever there are American soldiers.

Revering the vast amount of work already accomplished by Chairman Mulligan, it becomes evident that he works by these rules: exact, efficient, economy and economy. When he decides that a thing ought to be done, he does it—red tape cuts no figure with him. When he does a thing, he does it right—he's efficient. When he spends a dollar or a million dollars, he gets value received to the last penny. He's not extravagant, neither is he parsimonious. He's economical. The American soldier will get 100 per cent benefit from every dollar in the Knights of Columbus fund passing through Chairman Mulligan's hands.

BARNES CIRCUS HERE AUG. 9TH

World's Original And Greatest Wild Animal Show. 103 Sensational Features.

Next August 9th will be circus day

The only performing Zebras before the public are coming in Al. G. Barnes Wild Animal Circus, Aug. 9.

In Janesville, The Al. G. Barnes Big Four-Ring Wild Animal Circus is coming, and will give two performances here on the above date.

The coming of this great wild animal show always elicits a great deal of interest, as no other circus equals the Barnes shows for the multitude of entirely original wild animal features presented.

Practically the entire entertainment provided by this show is given by the use of educated animals—1200 in number—animals of almost every known species. The show is still a circus.

Acrobats, jugglers, tumblers, high divers, bareback riders, etc. The performers are animals, yet their work is done with as much, or even greater, proficiency than one is accustomed to see in the human. The only exception to this rule are the clowns—twelve of them, funny ones, too—for a circus would not be true to tradition without clowns. There's sawdust rings and pink lemonade, for what's a circus without them? Other wise the Barnes Circus in an animal show, exclusively so.

Prominent among the great feature acts presented are: Tom Dick and Harry, juggling horse-riding sea-lions, Sampson, the aviation lion, that rides to the top of the tent surrounded by shooting sky rockets; Big Bill, the wrestling giant; Little Florine and troupe of Persian leopards, jaguars and pumas; Mabel Stark and group of Royal Bengal and Siberian tigers; the horse-riding lions and bears; high diving dogs and monkeys; and the Barnes troupe of educated world's premium horses and ponies—550 of them.

The big, sensational, thrilling spectacle of the program is the group of twenty-four man-eating African lions shown in one act by Venus Fashion. These lions are valued at $50,000, and represent the greatest wild animal act ever known.

Fifty comedy elephants, bears, monkeys, dogs, goats, ponies, together with Danger, Dynamite and Miles—mini-mules, assist the clowns in provoking laughter.

A new, big feature, mile-long parade, in which four bands play, is presented to the public at 10:30. Performers are given at 2 and 8 p. m. Doors open at 1 and 7, that patrons may inspect the 200 cage menagerie.

PULLS WRONG LEG LANDS IN JAIL

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS)

New York, Aug. 7.—Benjamin Suth, his signals crossed during the early hours of a recent morning, Suth boards with Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Parkas, of East One Hundred and Twenty-second street. He is enamored of Mrs. Parkas, who, he believed, reciprocated his affections.

Mr. Parkas was awakened by a gentle pull on his right leg. He felt a hand clutch his ankle fondly and sway the limb caressingly. Mrs. Parkas was sleeping soundly beside him. Parkas tried to jerk his leg free but shouted for Suth to come for the rest.

He woke up his two babies in the next room and half the tenants of the house before the grip on his ankle was relaxed. Patrolman Feeley dragged the boarder from under the bed and restored a semblance of order as Suth explained:

"I just came in to see what time it was."

Just how his could conduct his chronological investigation under the circumstances and the bed clothes, unless Parkas wore an ankle watch with a radium dial, was not clear to the policeman.

"She said she'd elope with me," finally admitted the boarder, according to the patrolman, "and I wanted to wake her up, but maybe I caught the wrong leg."

"But one of the boys tried to hide some of the hay behind a box and was caught doing it, and two sentries clouted him from one end of the barracks to the other. His nose was broken and his face mashed to a jelly. That there was nothing we could do, so we just wandered up and down the barracks, about as we did between decks on the Mowee, trying to keep warm.

While this marathon was on we heard a whistle blown very loudly, and when we looked out we saw a wagon piled up with old tin cans. Then we were told to form single file, walk out to the wagon and each get a can for himself. Each man had to take the first can he held his hands on, and many of us got rusty ones with holes in them. So that about half an hour later, when we received barley coffee, and all we had to drink it from was the cans, lots of the men had to drink their almost in one gulp or lose half of it.

The barracks were very dirty and smelled horribly, and the men were still not even half clothed. We all looked filthy and smelled that way, and where the coal dust had rubbed off, we were very pale. And all of us were shivering looking.

About eleven o'clock that morning the whistle blew again, and we came out and were given an abundance of soup and a dish of apples. Then we changed up and saw corned beef and cabbage for ourselves. An hour later they drilled us through the snow to the kitchen. When we got there we stood in line until at least half-past twelve, and then the Germans shouted: "Nichts zu essen." But we did not know what that meant, so we just hung around there and waited. Then they started shouting, "Zurück! Zurück!" and drove us back to the barracks.

Later we heard the words "Nichts zu essen" so often that we thought probably they meant "no eats." We had our reasons for thinking so, too. Those words, and "zurück" and "raus," were practically all we did hear, except, of course, various kinds of swear-words.

It was awful to see the men when we got back to the barracks. Some of the boys from the Georgia, not much over twelve years old, were almost crazy, but even the older men were crying, many of them. It was nothing but a scene of the time. They opened all the windows and doors in the barracks, and then we could not hear the room with our bodies. When we started to move around, to keep warm, they fired a few shots at us. I do not know whether they hit anyone or not; we had not so that we did not pay any attention to things like that. But it stopped us, and we had to stand still. The Hun thought we would make the rifles from the sentries and use them, too.

I never saw a yellowed bunch of people in my life. I do not mean people. I wish I could publish what I really mean.

We had stoves in the barracks, but no coal or wood to burn. There were many boxes piled up there, but they belonged to the Germans. We would have burned them if we could, but the Germans made us carry them across the road. They weighed about 150 pounds apiece, and we were so weak that it was all we could do to budge them. And we had to roll them; they would not let us roll them. We were so cold and hungry that even that exercise did not warm us.

About 2:30 the whistle blew again, and the Huns picked out a few men and took them down the road. We could not figure out why, but they came back about three o'clock, all of them with bread in their arms. They were chewing away on it when they had a chance. Whenever the sentries were not looking they would bite at it like a fish going after a worm. Each man carried five loaves.

When they got to the bread down on the floor, and then, with their bayonets, the sentries cut each loaf once down the center lengthwise and four times across, which meant ten men to a loaf about the size of an ordinary ten-cent loaf in this country now. They gave each of us a piece a little larger than a safety-match box.

The bread was hard and dark, and I really think they made it from trees. It had just exactly the same smell that the dirt around trees has.

We filed past the sentries single file to get our ration of this mud, and there was no chance of getting in line twice, for we had to keep on filing until we were out in the road, and stand there in the snow to eat it. We could not go back in the barracks until every man had been served.

Our meals were like this: A can of barley coffee in the morning; cabbage soup, so called, at noon; a tenth of a loaf of bread at 3 p. m. That was our menu day in and day out, the Kaiser's birthday, Lincoln's, May day, or any other day.

This cabbage soup was a great idea. We called it shadow soup, because the boys claimed they made it by hanging a cabbage over a barrel of water and letting the shadow fall on the water. We pretended, too, that if you found any cabbage in it, you could take your dish back for a second helping. But I never saw anybody get more than one dishful. All it was, was just spoiled water.

We tried to go to sleep that night, but there were so many sentries around us—and those of us who were not sick were wounded—that I do not

They Tied Me, Face to the Fence. I think a man of us really slept. After a while I asked a sentry if I could go outside for a minute, but for some reason he would not let me. I had different ideas about it, so I stood around near the door, and when he turned his back out I went and around the corner of the barracks.

But one of the sentries there saw me and blew his whistle, and a guard of eight came up from somewhere and stabbed me. I tried to explain, but it was no use, because every time I said a word it meant another swat over the ear, so finally I gave it up.

Then they drilled me across the road to the officers' quarters. There were three officers there, and each of them asked me questions about all kinds of things, but never once mentioned my running out of the barracks. Then they gave the sentries some commands, and four of the sentries took me out and over to the barbed wire fence. There they tied me, face to the fence, arms over my head, and hands and feet lashed to the wire, and with a rope around my waist, too. I thought, then, that my hunch had come true, and that I would be crucified, like Murray and Brown.

They posted a sentry there in addition to the regular guards, and every time he walked past me he would kick me or spit on me, or do both.

One time he kicked me so hard that a prong of the barbed wire gashed me over the left eye—the only one I can see with—and when the blood ran into my eye it blinded me. I thought both eyes were gone then, and I hoped they would shoot me. It seemed to me that I had got my share by this time without losing the other eye, and if it was gone, I wanted to go, too.

I could not put up my hand to feel where the prong had jabbed me, and it kept on bleeding and smarting. I had on practically no clothing, you remember. The wounds in my thigh had opened, and it was bitter cold and windy. So you can picture to yourself how gay and carefree I was.

When I had been there for an hour and a half they untied me from the wire, and I keeled over on my back. They kicked me until I had to stand up, but I fell down again, and all the kicking in Germany could not have brought me to my feet. I was just all in. So they blew their whistles and the sentries in the barracks awakened two of the boys, who came and carried me in.

All the time the sentries were yelling, "Gott strafe England!" and "schweinhund!" until you would have thought they were in a battle. What their idea was I do not know.

The boys had a little water in a can, and one of them tore off part of the sleeve of his undershirt. So they washed the gash and bandaged it. Believe me, I was glad when I could see again. I was so tired and worn out that I went to sleep at once, and did not wake up until they were giving us our barley coffee next morning.

CHAPTER XIX.

German Prison Camps.

A few days after I had been lashed to the barbed wire fence some of the German officers came to the barracks, and one of them who spoke very good English said: "All of the neutrals who were on unarmaged ships step out." Only a few stepped out.

Then he called for all the neutrals, and the Danes, Swedes, Norwegians, Brazilians and Spaniards stepped out. But when I did, he said, "No, not Americans. Americans are not neutral. America supplies our enemies with food and ammunition." He raised his fist, and I thought he was going to hit me, but instead he gave me a shove that caused me to fall and get a little cut on the head. Then the sentries pushed me over with the British and the French.

After that they took the Norwegians, Swedes and Danes to separate barracks, and gave them clothes and beds and the same rations as the German soldiers. When I saw this I made a kick and said I was a neutral, too, and ought to get the same treatment as the Scandinavians. They took me to the officers again, kicked me about and swore at me, and the only answer I got was that America would suffer for all she had done for the allies. Then I was sent back to the barracks again.

The next day at about one o'clock they took us from the barracks and drilled us through the swamps. The men began to fall one by one, some crying or swearing, but most of them going along without a word. Those who went down were smashed in the head with rifle butts or belts.

Finally we arrived at a little railroad station, and had to stand in the snow for over an hour while the engine ran up and down the tracks looking on ours. When we finally got in the cars we were frozen stiff. I could hardly walk, and some of the boys simply could not move without intense pain.

They loaded twelve men into each compartment, and detailed a guard of six men to each car. The windows in the cars were all smashed, and everything about the cars was dirty.

Finally the train stopped at a town named Alt-Damm, and there was a mob of women and children around, as usual, ready for us with bricks and spit. They stoned us through the car windows, and laughed and jeered at us, but by this time we were so used to it that we did not mind much. Only, every now and then some fellow would get all he could stand, and either talk back or make a pass at somebody. Then he would get his—either a bayonet through the arm or leg, or a crash on the head with a gun butt.

After an eighteen hour ride, without food or drink, we arrived at Neustrelitz. It was raining as we pulled in. As we went up the grade to the town we could see lights about a mile away, and we figured that that was the camp. The train stopped and we remained in the cars for some time. Then, after a while, we knew our new guards were coming; long before we could see them, we could hear the racket they made. Somehow a German cannot do anything shipshape and neatly, but always has to have a lot of noise, and running around, and general confusion. Four-footed swine are more orderly in their habits than the Huns.

When they came up, we were roused from the cars and drilled up the road to the camp. When we got near the German barracks we were halted and counted again, and made to stand there for at least an hour after they had finished counting us, shivering like leaves. At last they placed us in barracks, and those who could went to sleep.

Dinner Stories

"I want you to be sure, Eliza, that you use the thermometer to see that the water is the right temperature when you give the baby his bath," said Mrs. Blinks to her nurse girl.

"Land sakes!" replied Eliza cheerfully. "I don't need a thermometer. If the baby turns red I know the water's too hot, and if he turns blue water's too cold—and there you are!"

Old Caesar thought he knew something about the matter as body servant through the war between the states, but Camp Jackson was a revelation to him.

"Yes, mean, Maus'杰杰杰," he cross-examined his young maus, "dat dese young gen'n can't drink nothin' stronger'n spring water?"

"That's all."

"And no 'trollickin' wid de gals?"

"None whatever."

"An' no swearin' at de mules?"

"Against regulations."

"Lor, Maus杰杰杰, disher ain't no camp. Disher's a camp meetin'!"

The benevolent old gentleman had taken a friendly interest in Cohen's son.

"Suppose," he said one day, "that I should give you a thousand dollars, what would be the first thing you would do with it?"

"Count it," said the promising youth.

Don't Let Soap Spoil Your Hair

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mul-sified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes-out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

What Is Nuxated Iron?

Physician Explains—Says Public Ought to Know What They Are Taking—Practical Advice on What to Do To Build Up Your Strength, Power and Endurance and Increase the Red Blood Corpuscles.

"The fact that Nuxated Iron is today being used by over three million people annually and that so many physicians are prescribing it as a tonic, strength and endurance builder, is a strong endorsement of its merits by designated physicians and others whose reports should be of great importance to the public generally. Among these is the statement made by Dr. J. C. Francis Sullivan, formerly principal physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and Westchester County Hospital, who says: 'I believe every honest, conscientious physician should do before prescribing or lending his endorsement to any product whatsoever. If an article is worthless or practically worthless, it is the first to know of it and if it is efficacious we are in duty bound to recommend it for the welfare of our patients. A study of the composition of the Nuxated Iron formula impressed me with the therapeutic efficacy of the product that I immediately tested it in a number of obstinate cases. So quickly did it increase the strength, energy and endurance of the patients to whom it was administered that I became firmly convinced of its remarkable value as a tonic and blood builder. I have since taken it myself with excellent results. There are thousands of delicate, nervous, run-down folks who need just such a preparation as this but do not know what to take. Therefore I have urgently suggested the widespread publication of the sworn statement of the composition of its formula so that the public may know what they are taking. This complete formula is now to be found in newspapers throughout the country. It is composed principally of organic iron in the form of iron peptonate of a special specific standard, and glycerophosphates which in one of the most costly tonic ingredients known. To the credit of the manufacturers it may be said that they use the most expensive form of iron peptonate, whereas by employing others they could have reduced the cost to less than one-twelfth, but by thus cheapening the product they would undoubtedly have impaired its therapeutic efficacy. In my opinion a careful examination of this formula by any physician or pharmacist should convince him that Nuxated Iron is to be placed among the very highest class and most strictly ethical preparations known to medical science. It exceeds anything I have ever used for building up the system, and increasing the red blood corpuscles thereby enriching and fortifying the blood against the ravages of disease.'

TENOR RESIGNS AS PRESIDENT OF THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

New York, Aug. 7.—John K. Tenor, president of the National League, yesterday resigned his position as a result of a baseball squabble between himself and president Ben Johnson, of the American league, over the Scott Perry case. Scott Perry was recently awarded to the Boston Braves, but is still with the Philadelphia Athletics. When the National commission awarded him to Boston, Manager Mack got out an injunction restraining the National league from taking him. Tenor then announced that he would not serve on the commission unless the Athletics gave up Perry.

Mr. Tenor was elected president of the National league while governor of Pennsylvania. He is now head of a large highway building corporation and will devote all his time to this business.

MORRIS MILLER

Owner Jim Dunn of the Cleveland American league club caused considerable excitement in Cleveland and a flurry around the big league circuit recently when he announced that he would close up his park for the season following a double-header one Sunday with the Athletics. This was immediately following Secretary Baker's decision that ball players must work or fight. But the park wasn't closed—and is still open at this writing.

MR. WAD MUST INTEND HAVING A FEW THRILLS IN HIS NEXT RELEASE!

An interesting little story which may explain the reason boys up in an eastern paper. The story says: President Frazee of the Red Sox encountered President Dunn of the Cleveland in Chicago last week.

"I'll close my park if Secretary Baker's order isn't modified," said Dunn.

"Surely you won't refuse to play your scheduled games with the Yankees," remarked Frazee. "Yes, I will, and that's final," exclaimed the Cleveland magnate, hotly.

"Then you'll forfeit a million dollar franchise and somebody else will put a club in Cleveland!" said the owner of the Red Sox.

Dunn didn't close his park. Maybe Dunn didn't really mean it when he said he'd close his park. It might have been a good play to get a big crowd out at the supposed obsequies and another at the reopening. And then again it may be that Dunn hadn't thought of the franchise angle. And a million-dollar franchise isn't to be sneezed at, even if everybody has decided baseball is over the rocks.

It may be that none of these reasons prompted Dunn's move. Dunn showed himself to be a gambler in a business way when he bought the Cleveland club, then in a sorry state and shelled out close to $100,000 more for players the very first spring. It seems unreasonable that he would rush to cover in a few hours to save a few dollars. It may be that Dunn figured he was entering in with the spirit of Baker's ruling. The fact that he is the only magnate who made such a move would indicate that he acted independently and probably from sincere motives.

If he did he probably made several of the moguls peevish.

"Hurry Up" Yost will return to Michigan university next fall. It has been rumored about intercollegiate circles that the western gridiron wizard had tired of his task at Ann Arbor. Some said that failure of his lads to live up to expectations against Bob Foltwell's Pennsylvania pupils last season cut deep into the heart of the Michigan mentor. The fact is that he has finally given his consent to be named for another season "pop" which caused him to be named "Hurricane" by his admirers.

Ralph De Palma continues to start as a dare-devil auto driver. His latest feat was in winning four out of five sprint events in the Chicago speedway races recently, setting two new world's records in competition. He gave Dario Resta and Louis Chevrolet a battle in the fifth event.

Which same we would consider a fairly good day for one man. De Palma's dashing system of racing, his daring at the turns and his pluck, make him a man to be feared on the track.

Mrs. William A. Gavin, the metropolitan golf champion, continues to upset the women's records of California links, according to reports received in the east by her friends. In a recent match, played over the picturesque and difficult Del Monte course, Mrs. Gavin had an 82 for the par 73 course, which measures considerable over 6,000 yards. She played with Dr. Fredericks against Mike Brady, the Boston professional, and Miss Chesebrough, a California expert.

Orfordville News

Orfordville, Aug. 5.—General Order No. 26. The division commander cites the following man of the 28th infantry for conspicuous gallantry in action during the operations connected with the capture and defense of Cantigny, May 27-31. Kenneth S. Wells displayed courage and absolute fearlessness in carrying messages under heavy shell fire. The above was enclosed in a letter which Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Wells received from their son on Monday. The document speaks for itself and shows that the local boys are surely doing their part in winning the war. The Dr. and his wife received many hearty congratulations. A reception was rendered by the Lutheran Church society on Sunday evening to their new pastor and his family. Addresses were made by Rev. Thorson of Janesville, Rev. Ivan Ramsoth of Luther Valley church, to which Rev. L. A force of men set the new flag pole on the three cornered plat of ground just north of the depot on Tuesday. The pole is of steel tubing and will be about fifteen feet high.

The intense heat on Monday and Tuesday did not deter the farmers from doing their threshing and other similar work. There were no prostrations reported, though the mercury was hovering around the one hundred mark for many hours each day.

Oscar Nelson of Janesville is spending a portion of his vacation in Orfordville. He and his family are visiting at the home of Mrs. Nelson's mother, Mrs. John Keller.
